

POLKA

This area specifies which objects are currently being identified within the currently selected image.

This area allows reference objects to be displayed over the image which aid the identification of the objects currently being entered.

This area controls the section to be displayed from the currently selected image, and the scaling to use for pixel values.

This area displays the current option settings, and other useful items of information

This area contains a short description of the control or area currently under the pointer.

This area displays the currently selected image, together with markers for any identified features or masks.